— 2019 - 2020 —

Who we are

At QualisA we are committed to transmitting emotions around the world through the flowers we produce, these are cultivated to perfection with the great responsibility of building a sustainable future.

At QualisA, we are committed to improve efficiency beyond our production facilities throughout the supply chain. Our clients will see the impact of reduced costs on airfreight as we have implemented an automatic control on perfect packaging, being a real weight versus volumen weight equal to 1.

We have achieved this after many years of consolidating our own shipments, which made us become fully aware of this necessity.

Additionally we actively promote awareness of this issue throughout the floriculture sector in order to standardize and optimize these packaging practices.

Technology

Our greenhouses have a metallic-structure and internal climate conditions are automated and controlled by sophisticated computer programs assuring the perfect environment for rose cultivation.

QualisA has a specialized high-tech propagation and nursery facility to provide the production areas with the most vigorous and disease-free vegetative material which is the basis for a healthy and strong rose plant. The quality of a rose starts by using the best material from the beginning.

Environmental and Social Practices

We are constantly improving the working conditions for our employees.

Our practices must have a beneficial impact not only for the product itself but for the environment where they are produced and for the personnel involved on its production.

QualisA is committed to ensuring the wellbeing of every employee in health and social security aspects which are based on the Universal Human Rights Codes and abide the local labor laws.
