Iconic Roses for Life's Extraordinary Moments

---

Core Beliefs

Rosaprima is an independent company with a unique passion for roses and a firm belief that we are doing extraordinary work. Our creations are demanded by the most prestigious floral artisans and designers around the world. Rosaprima is a company that is constantly raising the bar by setting new standards in quality, service, and corporate citizenship. Rosaprima roses are the epitome of beauty and elegance. Our company is committed to growing and breeding the world's most luxurious roses. Since our founding in 1995, our values have remained the same: unequaled craftsmanship, sound business practices and a belief that roses have an important place in life's most precious moments.

People: the Heart of Rosaprima

Since our founding, our people have been our greatest asset — we say it often and with good reason. It is only with the commitment, competence and creative power of our team that we are able to deliver on our promise of curating exclusive collections that are the essence of a luxury rose.

We strive to attract and retain the most talented people in their fields of expertise. To employ the very best, we create a positive work environment filled with creativity, teamwork, positive energy and personal growth. Because the 1,600 members of the Rosaprima family enjoy their work, they are able to infuse that passion and love into their craft— and set a new standard in growing and distributing the world's finest roses.

Our people-centric philosophy extends to our personalized approach to customer relations. Customer care is a pillar of our company. Our goal is to ensure our customers enjoy the best possible experience when purchasing Rosaprima roses. We continually strive to exceed expectations by anticipating our customers' needs and providing them with delightful service. From wholesalers and distributors, to florists and consumers, our mission is to ensure each and every one is impressed with the service and the quality of the products they receive.

The Extraordinary Rosaprima Collection

Our collection of more than 150 varieties of estate-grown luxury roses was painstakingly assembled over two decades in partnership with world renowned rose breeders. Thousands of codes and varieties are tested in our 400 acre estate in the Guachalá region of Ecuador, at an altitude of 2,850 meters. Only the ones that meet our stringent tests and requirements in terms of bud size, coloration, longevity and resilience are brought to commercial production and introduced to the most discerning markets around the globe. As a result, our collection is a unique and impeccable assortment of the best roses in the world.

Life's Extraordinary Moments

Moments of Beauty

We take great pride and personal responsibility in the fact that every day, our products adorn ceremonies, celebrations, and other important life moments across the world. We are honored to contribute and view it as part of our heritage to ensure that the event, and the moments, are commemorated with elegance and beauty.

Creating Lifelong Memories

Our passion lies in the understanding that we are playing a role in the events that create memories that will last a lifetime. We are selected as the rose of choice for special moments in people's lives: a wedding, a celebration, a remembrance, a commemoration — and all the important occasions experienced throughout life. Rosaprima roses add a special touch to these moments, and we feel very privileged to be part of these memories.

Sustainable Quality Farming

The Art of the Rose

Quality is the cornerstone behind our success. An uncompromising quest for perfection is our driving force. Perfected over hundreds of years, our breeding process involves hands-on development and inspection by an expert eye.

Growing the Perfect Rose

For over two decades, our roses have been estate grown and never purchased from third party growers. Rosaprima roses are naturally cultivated high in the Andes Mountains of Ecuador. We harness the power of nature to grow the finest roses. Known for its fertile soil and pristine waters of Cayambe's glaciers, the land has delivered bountiful harvests for centuries. Our land is known to be the world's most well-suited region for rose growing in the world.

Working in Harmony with Nature

Long-term sustainability and protecting the environment are two principles that guide our work. We believe we have a moral obligation to help preserve the natural beauty in which our roses are grown. Rosaprima uses environmentally sound cultivation methods that work in harmony with nature. Every part of the growing process uses resources efficiently, resulting in minimal environmental impact. We take our responsibilities to society and the environment seriously and conduct our business with integrity.

Minimizing Environmental Impact

Rosaprima has dedicated substantial time and resources to developing state-of-the-art irrigation systems and protocols that drastically reduce water usage and ensure minimal impacts on its farmland and neighboring areas. In addition, all rose waste products are composted.

Restoring and Rebuilding

Our farm land and surrounding areas have been reforested with native trees and plants. Rosaprima has planted over 100,000 trees onsite, many of which naturally prevent soil erosion. Soil is enhanced with extracts from organic waste produced on-site, minimizing the need for external fertilizers. Today, Rosaprima's land is healthier, more robust and boasts more organic matter than at any time in our history.

Rose Artisans

passion and craftsmanship

Sophisticated Beauty

Our roses are handcrafted by skillful artisans who take great pride in producing roses of world-renowned excellence and beauty. It takes unique skills and craftsmanship, and a willingness to give each rose individual attention, to create unspoiled beauty and luxury – traits that define Rosaprima. With a passion for roses and expertise in the growing process, only the hands of a skilled grower can accomplish the superior quality that is expected of a Rosaprima rose.

The Hand of the Artisan

The beauty of a Rosaprima rose lies in the smallest of details, from grafting budwood at the right time of year to rising before the sun to harvest the crops. Creating a luxury rose of unequalled beauty is a meticulous and complex process that requires a combination of manual skills and advanced technology. Our rose experts constantly study to guarantee impeccable aesthetics and performance. The reward for our artisans is creating work they are truly proud of and knowing their roses are selected for those moments in life when only the finest will do.

Innovation

technology enhances tradition

At the core, our growing processes are rooted in practices and traditions that are hundreds of years old. Generations of workers lend their talents and their knowledge, which we strengthen by harnessing the power of technology. From computerized irrigation systems to modern greenhouses and staging areas, technology enhances tradition by providing scientific rigor to an already refined process.

Partnerships to Grow Premium Roses

We partner with the world's most renowned breeders to develop tomorrow's newest and most innovative varieties. Together we collaborate to study attributes such as extended vase life, novel colors, and shapes of rare beauty. This process takes an average of five years of meticulous investigation. As a result we set the trends and tone for future varieties to be enjoyed worldwide.

Delivering Beauty

Uncompromising beauty is delicate by nature. After harvesting, our roses are prepared using state-of-the-art packaging processes, and great attention is given to maintaining a temperature-controlled supply chain. Our processes are constantly monitored and optimized, so the roses will last as long as possible. Strategic alliances with reputable airlines, logistics companies and customs agents enable us to deliver the freshest roses anywhere in the world within only a few hours.

Curating an Exclusive Rosaprima Collection

Our ability to curate a rose collection is unlike any other. Since our inception, we have developed deep knowledge and proprietary processes for every aspect of rose-curating and selection. Thousands of codes and varieties are tested in our 400 acre estate in the Guachalá region of Ecuador, at nearly 3,000 meters. Only the roses that meet our stringent tests and requirements in terms of bud size, coloration, longevity and resilience are brought to commercial production and introduced to the most discerning markets around the globe. As a result, our collection is a unique and impeccable assortment of the best roses in the world.
